The world of design can be chaotic. As a Manager of Creative Services, I keep the chaos in check. I'm a jack of all trades in the design world. I have vast experience in every aspect of the design process, taking projects from conception to completion. I pay attention to every detail and bump along the road, plotting the best moves. I'm just as comfortable working on print design projects as I am coding websites and creating stunning marketing campaigns. I'm always on the lookout for areas to grow and new challenges to conquer.
